What Do Legislators

Know About Medicine

Tragedy of a German

EVERY SESSION of the legislature mixes in a little witchcraft along with the wherewithals and wherewhats, but the Little Rock Medicine Show of 1951 has hit a new high with Senate Bill 157.

It's about the training of pharmacists. Present law requires four years of study in a recognized college of pharmacy before you can be licensed to mix the medicines that other men live or die by. But S. B. No. 157 would change this.

S. B. No. 157 would automatically license any person who had spent 10 years in a drugstore and was recommended by two registered pharmacists and two practicing physicians.

You might have spent years on a broom-handle — but the 10th year makes you a full-fledged witch . . . and a pill-rolling you go.

What gives on the foggy banks of the Arkansas river town that a man wearing the title of state senator can write a bill with the pen of ignorance and the ink of murder?

What has Time got to do with the qualifications of an apprentice in an exact science? Ten years or a hundred wouldn't make the stupid or irresponsible ones qualified pharmacists. That's why we have recognized schools — to weed out the dangerous misfits, so the public can be sure a prescription is filled exactly . . . not by guess and by God.

Of course there's a grim humor about S. B. 157. If it passes the legislature and becomes law we've only one alternative — and that is to initiate another law — a law that would forbid drugstores from employing any unlicensed employee for more than 9 years and 364 days!

Make way for the unemployed!

YOU READ ON this page yesterday a press dispatch which had a strange resemblance to the biblical warnings about the temptations and arrogance and disaster that sometimes befall the rich.

It was the (P) account of the life and death of Fritz Thyssen — son of the founder of the great German steel industry, who was more gifted than his father, yet died a pauper and an exile in Argentina.

Richest man in Germany, it was Thyssen who saw possibilities in overthrowing the Weimar republic and setting up a dictator. The dictator was Adolf Hitler. Thyssen spent $1,200,000 to get Hitler elected in 1933.

Thyssen's reward? He got the same thing — did this rich man — that he bargained for the common people whose republic he destroyed. Hitler took away his wealth, sent him into exile in Locarno, and later France. When Germany overran France in World War II Thyssen was again seized, and this time placed in a concentration camp — where the Nazis found him after the Nazis' collapse in 1945.

Day before yesterday this unhappy man died in far-away Argentina, and will be buried in that foreign land — an example before the world that, rich or poor, when men don't live together for the common good they die in poverty and disaster, and alone.

Watch Label Date on Mail Subscriptions

Subscribers who receive The Star by mail are urged to check the expiration date on their label, especially after renewing the subscription. The label should show the new expiration date within two or three days — never more than a week — after the office is paid. For example:

Your old expiration date is February 15, 1951. The old label would read 2-15-51. You pay for another year — and in a few days the label should read 2-15-52. Unless the label is correct you run the risk of accidental stoppage of the paper, because billings and cut-offs are made from the label dates. The books, of course, would eventually correct any mistakes — but a correct label date is your insurance against missing some copies because of a transcription error.

Horace Heidt, Band Coming to Hope March 15

Teddy Jones, President of the Kiwanis club announced today the signing of contracts for the appearance here of the Horace Heidt's "Original Youth Opportunity Program" with Horace Heidt in person.

The show, presented as a vaudeville variety revue will be in Hope March 15th at the Indoors coliseum.

Horace Heidt, who bears the title of "America's Starmaker", will present a 24-hour show with the stars of the Original Youth Opportunity program who have appeared on the coast to coast broadcast on CBS every Sunday Night. The show is being brought to Hope for the benefit of the Youth Center.

Local talent will have an opportunity to try out for an appearance with the Heidt Show when it plays in Hope, and also be considered for an appearance on the regular Sunday night broadcast.

James Rankin, talent scout for the show will be in Hope to hold auditions for the localities who wish to try out.

It is impossible to guarantee that anyone will appear on a Sunday night broadcast, but the talent that appears on the stage with the show here will be given every consideration for a possible appearance with the Heidt show on a future broadcast.

Heidt's all new show features 60 of America's top entertainers who have been discovered on the coast-to-coast tours made by the organization.

The program, which is of 24 hours duration, presents the best in America's stage entertainment. The show has been received from coast-to-coast as the absolute tops in entertainment, and it will be in Hope, sponsored by the Hope Kiwanis Club; the night of March 15.

Two 80-Piece Bands Formed at Clinic

Two 80 piece bands composed of band students from 14 surrounding towns held warm-up rehearsals in the new band building last night at the high school during the annual band clinic being held here this weekend.

E. J. Marty of the University of Arkansas, guest conductor of the band clinic conducted the warm-up rehearsals. He expressed his enthusiasm for the caliber of musicians assembled for the clinic. Emphasis is being placed on reading of new material, good playing habits, tone productions, good balance and an attempt to obtain a high enthusiasm both in the music and instrument students are playing.

All schools having outstanding bands in this district are represented in the two day clinic.

First chair winners last night were Jerry Bowden, baritone; James Russell, trombone; J. G. Darwin, French horn; Wilma Coleman, oboe; Leroy Brown, bass drum; Albert Graves, Jr., cymbal; Nelda Thompson, alto clarinet; Catherine Smith, bassoon; Billy Blake, cymbal and Jo Ann Nichols, E flat clarinet.

Second chair ratings were given Jackie Holt, Gladys Womack, Bonnie Shirley, Loretta Ward, Arlene Shirley, Vonnell Trout, Dan Brown, Sue Willis and Thyra Halliburton.

The first and second chair winners in the clinic bands will be entitled to audition for the all state band which will be held at Arkadelphia March 9-10 under the direction of Alvin Edgar of the University of Iowa, Ames, Iowa.

Last night 30 band directors and their wives were entertained at a dinner meeting at the Barlow Hotel.

The clinic will end today at 5 p. m.

Cub Pack No. 90 to Observe Anniversary

G. Graham Jr., and Mrs. H. A. Spraggins, den mothers, will have special guests at the 7:30 worship service of the First Baptist church Sunday night.

The cubs are being honored because of the 41st anniversary of Scouting being celebrated this week.

All the cubs, den chiefs and their leaders will sit in a reserved section of the church and the parents of the cubs will sit in a reserved section just back of them.

Appeals Death Sentence to High Court

Little Rock, Feb. 10 — (P) — The second of two Negroes sentenced to death in the slaying of a St. Francis county sheriff last August has appealed to the Arkansas Supreme court.

He is Peter Dorsey, alias Dawson, whose appeal was filed yesterday. The appeal automatically stays electrocution of Dorsey, which had been scheduled for next Friday.

Aubrey Smith, the co-defendant, previously was convicted and has appealed.

The two were convicted in the slaying of Chief Deputy Sheriff Roy Campbell of St. Francis county. Campbell was shot to death by his own pistol and Deputy Otis Tatum was wounded in a struggle which developed while the officers were taking the men from Little Rock to Forrest City in connection with cattle theft charges.

Both were convicted at Helena, where the trials were transferred on a change of venue.

Reader Really Has Plenty to Talk About

Little Rock, Feb. 10 — (P) — H.B. (Buck) Fryar probably has more to say in the Arkansas senate that lawmakers who spend their time arguing merits of legislative matters.

Fryar, 43-year-old drug store owner of Beebe, Ark., is the reading clerk for the upper chamber. His duties require him to read all bills, amendments, resolutions and the like that bob in the senate.

Not only must he read and everything once; he has to run over it at least three times. And in case a bill is amended or through parliamentary procedure is called up for a vote the second time, he has to go through it all over again.

Despite all this talking Fryar doesn't have anything to say about passage of a bill.

Buck, as he likes to be called, got his first crack at his job in the 1943 session.

"I'd known a lot of politicians and decided I'd like to see what was going on down here so I applied for the job," said Buck.

"I liked it so well, I decided to try to get it every two years."

Fryar took a turn at politics last summer; he ran for representative from White county but lost by a narrow margin.

He declined to say whether he would make the race in 1952, adding "that would let the cat out of the bag. But anyway I still got my eye on coming back down here so I can do a lot of talking."

He takes the 60-day session in stride. He moves to Little Rock on opening day of the legislature and stays there until its over.

"It's my vacation and I don't worry about a thing."

Buck said his drug store "just sorta takes care of itself with the help of my wife and the family."

Concert Group Thanks Public

Mrs. J. C. Carlton, president of the Community Council in Hope, expressed the organization's appreciation today to local citizens who helped to make the current series a success. The final concert of the season was held at the high school Thursday night.

Police Probing Possible Theft

Clarence Barnes, West 4th street, reported to police yesterday that his garage was broken into sometime during the day. The garage contained tools but Mr. Barnes was unable to tell immediately whether any are missing. Officers are investigating.

Wage Policy Is Headache to Control Board

Washington, Feb. 10 (P) — The wage stabilization board, trying hard to find an overall wage policy to replace the temporary Jan. 28 freeze, may not come up with one until late next week at the earliest.

The board, headed by Cyrus S. Ching, can't agree on how far to thaw out the freeze. Ching, an leave from the federal mediation and conciliation service, intends to return as chairman of that body as soon as a firm wage policy can be worked out.

Ching has headed the wage board since last Oct. 10. If and when he does resign from the board, a possible successor is W. Willard Wirtz, acting administrative director of the wage board, or David L. Cole, a Peterson, N. J., labor attorney.

It seemed probably today that the three labor members of the wage board may not vote for any wage formula at all. That would leave it up to the three industry and three public members of the nine-man board to come to terms. Ching is one of the public members.

Meanwhile, four other labor leaders wrote a vigorous letter of protest made public today to Defense Mobilization Chief Charles E. Wilson. The four said they don't like Wilson's appointment of Dr. Arthur S. Flemming to be chairman of a defense manpower policy committee. They spoke out in support of Secretary of Labor Tobin's efforts to retain control of the nation's civilian manpower program.

Against their background of these wage-front developments came this price announcement from the government: wholesale prices continued their 13-week record-breaking climb for the week end Feb. 6.

Here's a fillin on these and other home-front mobilization developments:

The labor leaders who wrote the letter to Wilson, William Green, President of the American Federation of Labor; Philip Murray, President of the Congress of Industrial Organizations; George E. Leighty, President of the Railway Labor Executives association, and A. J. Hayes, president of the International Association of Machinists. They wrote as members of the united labor policy committee.

Their letter, dated Feb. 9 said:

Little Likelihood of Any Decisive Victory for Any Forces Fighting in Korea

By HAL BOYLE.

New York — (P) — "How will we know when we have won a victory in Korea?"

That question was put to me recently by a housewife whose two young sons were sailing for service in the Far East.

Her query looks naive on the surface. But it is one that has the diplomats and professional soldiers scratching their heads.

For there is no easy answer to it. There may never be a clear-cut military victory for either side. The Korean campaign has been a pig in the poke, in some ways, for everybody concerned.

All the nations involved in it have taken turns at the great oriental game of losing face — and everywhere you look you see a black eye in a mask of dignity.

The North Korean government lost face by failing to win the war it started last June 25th. It also lost most of its army.

The South Korean government lost face several times by the unimpressive showing of its troops against the enemy.

The United Nations — including the United States — lost face because it has been unable to carry out its program of creating a free, independent and united Korea.

China has lost face because so far it has failed to carry out its pledge to throw the Allies off the Korean peninsula.

Even Soviet Russia, which stayed out of the formal phases of the conflict, has lost some face back behind-the-scenes power grab to bring all Asia under communism has been rebuffed in battle.

This leaves the police Japanese as the only major race in the area with their features still intact. And they are deriving some satisfaction from watching the other nations fumble around the floor in an effort to pick up their fallen faces and put them back on straight.

But it's hard to see how any nation can now emerge wearing the same unscarred expression.

The campaign is now, after eight bitter months, about back where it was a few days after it started. There have been well over a ton casualties, and forces in the field are getting bareheaded snowy hills.

ROK'S BEEF BRIGADE—Heading for the chowline are these Republic of Korea "cavalrymen" and their mounts. The livestock, "liberated" somewhere along the battle line in South Korea, will provide beefsteak for the troops when they reach the end of the line. (NEA-Acmephoto by Staff Photographer, Ed. ## Officers in Detroit Take After Crime

Detroit, Feb. 10 — (P) — Law enforcement agencies took over today when the senate crime committee left off.

Things started popping even before Sen. O'Connor (D-Mich.) and his investigators, their two-day inquiry completed, left town.

U. S. Attorney Edward Kane threatened to prosecute at least three committee witnesses for perjury. He did not name them. One police character's gun-carrying permit was canceled.

These were the first developments in what may be a chain reaction.

Whether testimony by committee witnesses will provide leads to solve such baffling crimes as the 1948 and 1949 Reuther brothers shootings and recent gangland slayings remained to be seen.

Federal sleuths, state police and Detroit detectives listened carefully as witness after witness paraded to the stand.

Sen. O'Connor, summing up yesterday, said:

"Hurrah! Hurrah! I'm Going Away!" Anita Copeland, queen of pantomime.

Closing chorus by entire cast.

Governor Not to Attend Ceremony

Little Rock, Feb. 10 — (P) — Governor McMath has declined "with regret" an invitation to attend a ceremony at San Francisco next Wednesday for award of a distinguished service cross to an Arkansas hero of the Korean fighting.

The soldier, Cpl. William C. Ernest of Pine Bluff, lost both legs in a tank duel near Suwon on September 21.

McMath yesterday wrote Capt. Norman J. Cantley, army liaison officer at the Oakland (Cal.) naval hospital, that the press of legislative affairs would prevent his attending the ceremony.

The Pine Bluff soldier will receive the DSC, the nation's second highest award for valor. Lt. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer will make the presentation.

The citation accompanying Corporal Ernest's decoration relates that his feet were blown off when an enemy tank scored a direct hit on the lead tank of an American column.

With all others of his tank crew dead or wounded, Ernest crawled back through heavy machine gun fire to warn other approaching tanks of the roadblock ahead.

He refused medical attention until all of his tank mates had been cared for.

Hamilton to Teach SS Class

All members of the Century Bible Class of the First Methodist church are urged to be present Sunday morning to hear Brother James Hamilton teach Class at 8 a. m.

Draft Bill to Go Before Senate

Washington, Feb. 10 (P) — The defense department proposal for drafting 18-year-olds appears certain to reach the senate floor. It was included in a bill approved last night by a 7 to 1 vote of the senate preparedness subcommittee.

Although the measure still must clear the senate armed services committee, that step seemed certain since the seven senators who voted for it in the subcommittee form of a majority in the 13-man armed services group.

The subcommittee added several restrictions and modifications to the broad plan urged by Secretary of Defense Marshall to build up the nation's fighting manpower and provide a long-term reserve.

Young men of 18 have never been drafted in peacetime. And stiff opposition to the senate and house, because of many protests, especially from parents and educators.

The house armed services committee is working on a similar measure with public hearings suspended for the time being.

Senator Morse (R-Ore.), who voted against the subcommittee bill, issued a statement indicating he will continue to fight for some further changes.

One provision the group inserted in the measure would authorize army enlistment during the next five years of up to 125,000 carefully selected aliens.

Chairman Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) told reporters this move was not intended as "any substitute" for drafting 18 year olds. "It is in addition to other features for building up our forces," Johnson said.

Committee Named for Highway Audit

Little Rock, Feb. 10 — (P) — Herbert L. Thomas of Fayetteville and V. L. Tindall of Stuttgart will be members of a committee to audit the Arkansas highway department if a senate bill for such an investigation becomes law.

Thomas, an insurance company executive and former chairman of the board of trustees of the University of Arkansas, and Tindall, a rice miller, will replace Lt. Gov. Nathan Gordon and Clarence F. Byrnes Port Smith newspaper editor, both of whom declined to serve.

Sen. James P. Baker Jr., of West Helena introduced an amendment to make the proposed appointments yesterday. The senate approved. Baker said Thomas and Tindall had agreed to serve.

Other members of the five-man commission proposed in the senate bill (SB280) would be James Crain of Wilson, vice chairman of the Arkansas highway commission, and Spencer Fox of Pine Bluff.

R. H. Dickenson of Morrilton, a special order of 96, formal charge of a large majority of the senate's 35 members. The audit would extend back to 1947.

A previous bill for an audit was passed in the senate but beaten in the house.

The house yesterday became embroiled in a debate over whether a report of the highway audit should be made permanent.

The discussion was postponed until Monday.

Sen. Charles McNair, of Jonesboro, introduced a bill to amend the constitution to provide for a permanent highway audit.

The bill would amend the constitution to provide for a permanent highway audit.

UN Unopposed in Taking Prizes Around Seoul

Tokyo, Feb. 10 — (P) — All tank - infantry column, rolling northward on the floodtide of the 17-day Red-killing offensive, captured three big prizes around Seoul today without firing a shot.

1.—They swept into the southern industrial suburb of Yongdungpo.

2.—They raced on to the Kimp'o airfield 15 miles north of Seoul.

3.—They rumbled into the Yellow sea port of Inchon, miles west on the old South Korean capitol.

Where the hell are the "nose"? a GI shouted as he tumbled Yongdungpo.

One patrol crossed the Han river, branched the road gate of Seoul itself and tangled in a brisk fire-fight with a company of Chinese troops inside the city.

Allied artillery and how shells crumped into the eastern ready bulletted and dashed three times by the tides of strange Korean war.

Allied warplanes buzzed low attack. They spewed out firebombs, rockets and machine gun shells wherever pilots flushed a vanishing enemy. Ranked a force of 1,000 Red troops to flee north across the Han.

Big guns of Allied warships, including the Battleship Missouri and the British Belfast, pounded shells into the enemy's army, warships off Inchon.

The whole Communist drive in the west had crumbled. Reds were making a stand in central Korean area against northward drive of the 10th Corps. The 10th was fighting as a united command under the U. S. Eighth army and all command of Lt. Gen. MacArthur.

Far to the north of the ground action, U. S. F-80 shooting star fighters tangled in the Shanji area with a MIG-15 jet.

No damage to either side reported.

The MIGs showed up in for the first time in day. Three of Shooting Star pilots reported MIG attacks. There were MIG-made jets in one flight or eight in a second and reported number in the air.

American B-29s plastered rail bridges near the Red capital of Pyongyang with ton block-busters. Other jets hit the rail yards and at Suncheon, about 30 miles of Pyongyang.

Sunday School Lesson

By William E. Gilroy, D.D.

It was as the Savior of men, the Redeemer, that Jesus fulfilled
 His earthly mission, but the Gospel record on almost every page how the Savior of men was also teacher, healer, and friend.

It was Paul who admonished his fellow Christians to "rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep," but this was among the many things that Paul had learned from his Master.

The Jesus was the great Sympathizer, entering into the joys and sorrows of life, weeping with those who wept, but sharing the joys of a wedding feast. He freely accepted hospitality and mingled with men especially with the common people "who heard Him gladly." In innumerable ways He revealed His true humanity.

We call Him "the Man of Sorrows," and it befits one who bore the world's sins, and invited the heavily laden to come to Him for rest. But back of the sorrow, and the tragedy of the sin that crucified Him, was one who was neither recluse, nor ascetic.

If we would see Jesus as He was, let us read into the scriptures that He gave to some of His followers the words of Simon, whom He called Peter, a Rock, and the foundation of His Church, and the name of Jesus, who He called the "Son of Thunder."

It is this humanity of the divine Christ that must be experienced, if we would know in its fullness the continuing Presence of the Master.
 He is not only our Savior, but also our Friend. He called His disciples "friends," and He is the friend of all who would be His disciples.

This continuing Presence, and Friendship of Jesus is not a myth nor an imagination, nor an emotional illusion. Nothing is more sure than that thousands have felt, and feel, the reality of this spiritual Presence.

It brings into daily life and experience the warmth and tenderness, the faith and hope, the up-lifting word, that helped and inspired and blessed those who met the Master in His earthly life.

But if one would have that experience of the present Christ in his life, he must know that Master in His earthly life. We cannot have spiritual communion with those whom we do not know. To those who would know and feel the presence of the Christ as Friend, Impulse, and Helper, I commend the reading of the New Testament, and especially of the four Gospels.

It is not enough to read a chapter, or an incident, here and there.
 One should read it as one would read a book that he wished to know.

John Amos gave an interpretation of the hymn "We Would See Jesus," disclosing that the hymn was written originally for a group of college students. Carolyn Lewiston played the prelude and conducted a hymn quiz.

Bennie Jean Edmiston, Selby
 Riley and Donna Kennedy served refreshments to the group.
